

DO YOU LONG FOR BETTER SKIN?

Bioxil Skin Care System can produce results within a short period.

THE poreless, dewy and oh-so-soft skin of a baby is the way it is because the growth of a baby's skin cells exceeds its degradation. As we grow older, the balance shifts and our cells die faster than they are being renewed. Our genetic make-up determines how well we age, but remember – external factors play a role too.

What really happens

The skin is made up of the epidermis and the dermis layers, whereby the underlying dermis provides strength, elasticity and support to the outer epidermis. With age, the structure of the dermis shifts, causing undesirable lines on our complexion. Collagen production in the dermis will also slow down so you'll lose firmness, elasticity and moisture over time.

While these are natural ageing causes, certain external factors can also accelerate the process.

External factors

When our skin is exposed to intense and long exposures to sunlight, free radical damage from excessive UV rays increases the formation of fine lines, and darkens uneven skin tone and brown spots.

City lifestyle also exposes our skin to solar radiation, pollution, artificial light and air-conditioning that contributes to skin imbalances and a general weakening that eventually leads to premature ageing. Even reaching for a double latte can prematurely age you because sugar and high glycemic carbohydrates may actually trigger the formation of fine lines.

Furthermore, if you lead a stressful lifestyle, the increased amount of free radicals formed in your system can also exacerbate the problem.

While ageing is inevitable, premature skin ageing is not.
